Arizona State University

Arizona Technology Enterprises (AzTE) – AzTE works with university inventors and industry to transform scientific progress into products and services. AzTE transfers technologies invented at ASU to the private sector by mining university research, prosecuting patents, negotiating licenses, and marketing inventions.

ASU Research Enterprise (ASURE) – ASURE is the off-campus component of ASU's "Security & Defense Systems Initiative" for conducting higher-TRL applied research and advanced technology development programs, and restricted-access programs that require specialized clearances and facilities.

Complex Adaptive Systems Network (CASN) – CASN leverages trans-disciplinary relationships to address complex global challenges in health, sustainability, security, and education by creating new technologies and novel solutions. This requires integration of diverse research disciplines across the University and building an extended network of global collaborations.

Economic Development – ASU's economic development team works with the economic development community throughout Arizona, partnering with local and statewide organizations to build the state's economy.

EdPlus at ASU – EdPlus at ASU (formerly ASU Online and Extended Campus) offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate degree programs that are delivered through convenient and flexible formats both online and at off-campus locations throughout Arizona.

Edson Student Entrepreneur Initiative – Edson provides funding, office space, and training for teams of ASU students to explore their innovative ideas for business products and services in partnership with faculty, researchers and successful entrepreneurs from the academic and private sectors.

Entrepreneurship and Innovation (E&I) – E&I is ASU's platform to help faculty, students and companies linked with ASU accelerate their ventures and commercialize their technologies. E&I offers a variety of services to clients, including individual assistance, training, events, and community collaboration opportunities.

Global Pathways Institute – Education: Global Pathways Institute is an ASU institute focused on providing high-quality pathways for young people to develop individual potential and achieve economic independence. GPI works primarily with "Opportunity Youth," defined as youth that are disconnected from work and school.

Partnership Center for Advanced Studies in Energy (PCASE) – PCASE is one element of the broader U.S.-Pakistan Centers for Advanced Studies in Energy, Water, Agriculture and Food Security. Its focus is on growing capacities in governance, curriculum, applied research, exchanges and scholarships, and institutional sustainability.

Strategic Industry Collaboration – The Strategic Industry Collaborations team is focused on increasing the university's accessibility to business collaborations. They work to identify strategic industry opportunities that will increase the university's economic impact in the state, region, and beyond.
